

Sunday, Sept. 9, 2018 - Wisconsin Right to Life Day

By proclamation of the governor, today is designated as Wisconsin Right to Life Day in our state, to mark the pro-life organization's 50th Anniversary. In his remarks, the governor noted, "Wisconsin Right to Life has established itself as the preeminent right-to-life organization in Wisconsin and for the last 50 years has been saving lives by changing hearts and minds to favor life."

Executive Director, Heather Weininger, wrote, "As founding Father Thomas Jefferson made clear, LIFE is a human right granted us by our Creator. It is this principle which formed the basis of Wisconsin Right to Life's mission. As such, we believe that each human life is inherently valuable from fertilization to natural death.

From our beginnings in 1968, the organization's goal has been to push back against the proponents of the death agenda and make Wisconsin a place that values the lives and the human rights of each person, regardless of age, illness or disability. Our thanks go out to everyone who has been a part of this valiant struggle for the last 50 years. If you count yourself among those many generous souls who have faithfully prayed, volunteered, marched, donated or supported pregnancy help centers, we thank you!"
